

"This great God, who cannot lie, has repetitiously promised us victory."

The Lord Is Good

Today, the truth of the scripture is so vibrant in my heart. I am willing to shout it from the house-top. THE LORD IS GOOD. Through all the centuries of time, our great God has honored His covenant when we have embraced it with all our heart. The scripture so aptly declares "Let God be True." This is one of the certainties of this life.

God cannot lie. He will fulfill His word.

This great God, who cannot lie, has repetitiously promised us victory. The vocabulary of the scripture is like a wonderful spelling list. Joshua hearkened to God's Word of success and prosperity. The psalmist repeated this commitment of heaven and recorded again the word of prosperity in Psalm 1. In Psalm 112 our vocabulary list rises to new heights. We hear God speak of blessing, riches, righteousness, light, and honor. Could we ask for more? Ah! But God is not finished. I hear His voice cry of benefits, even a daily load. I listen as the Word of God promises to meet my needs. I bend my ear to God's cry, "Don't worry about anything." (The Living Bible) Oh I say again, "THE LORD IS GOOD."

There is another vocabulary list we must accumulate. The songwriter stated it clearly. "When we walk with the Lord in the light of His Word, what glory He sheds on our way!" There it begins. I hear God say, "Walk with me." Ephesians 5:1 gives us our second word - "follow". We could search the scripture a long time and add other words like "abide" from the writings of John, or Peter's cry, "Humble yourself." We could be reminded of the very grand word by Paul, "submit." James boldly declares, "Do." Our list could go on and on. Yes, yes, yes. The songwriter was right. We must "Trust and obey. For there's no other way."

I place my hand in God's hand. I give my heart. I follow carefully and this great God, who cannot lie, holds me securely. THE LORD IS GOOD.
